Art Unit: 2614

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4, respectively, of U.S. Patent No. 6,292,229.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because allowing claim 1 of the instant application (which is broader than patented claim 1) would result in an unjustified time-wise extension of the monopoly granted for the invention defined by claim 1 of the patent.

Pending claims 2-4 are identical to patented claims 2-4, respectively.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 2614

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Greaves et al. (cited by applicant).

Greaves (noting particularly Figs. 1, 2 and 4) applies plural digital video signals of any format and which have integer-related frame rates (col. 4 lines 13-24) to a switcher/router (note elements 185, 115) at a production studio (i.e. plant). The signals are processed to be aligned at a reference time wherein switch points are established in order to update the router using a time lapse relative to the time reference (e.g. col. 12 lines 33-61), thereby meeting claim 1.

As for claim 2, the input signals are initially converted into a common format (e.g. col. 3 lines 1-5).

As for claim 3, the input signals can be in any format including high definition or any other standard format (col. 4 lines 13-24).

Regarding claim 4, a master clock (sync) signal which is related to the frame rate of the first (or any) input signal is derived and accordingly used for measuring asynchronous conditions (i.e. offsets) for periodically adjusting the switching/routing and other special effects.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional references cited by applicant are all relevant to applicant's claims as well as to the disclosure.
